

Ignorant Americans

In Korea

I know a family who came from Peru
who owns an Indian restaurant
who tried to open a Peruvian restaurant
but failed because no one knew what or where Peru is.

And all the customers who go to that restaurant
think that the owner is Indian.

And the Peru flag hanging on the wall?

They think it's India.

And I knew a family in the U.S.

who owns a Japanese restaurant
because no one wanted to try Korean food
they also hung a Korean flag on their wall
but all the Americans thought it was Japanese.

That family made fun of those American customers a lot.

“Ignorant Americans” they would say.
